The University of the South is well known for its College of Arts and Sciences, one of the country’s top liberal arts colleges; its seminary, one of 10 serving the Episcopal Church; and the Beecken Center, home of Education for Ministry (EfM), which has enlivened the personal ministry of more than 100,000 Christians. What is less well known is that this University, owned by 28 dioceses in the Sewanee Province of the Episcopal Church, is a center for learning that touches people of all ages.

Preparing for adulthood
Come to Sewanee for SUMMA and learn, through debate, how to connect reason, faith, and tradition, while also preparing for college with a rigorous introduction to critical thinking. Or participate in the Young Writers’ Conference, Choral Institute, or the Sewanee Environmental Institute’s field studies experience and develop a creative talent or learn more about the natural world.

On the path to the baccalaureate
Move successfully into adult life by earning a degree at the only University owned and governed by Episcopal dioceses. Study one (or more) of 36 majors, 43 minors, and 15 special programs, including an innovative civic engagement program that leads students to change the world for the better.

Getting ready for church leadership
Congregations raise up individuals who are called to ministry, and the School of Theology provides them rigorous academic training, grounded in a life of prayer and in the shape of the Anglican tradition. The result? Good priests, pastors, teachers, liturgists, and preachers, formed with a servant’s heart to lead the church’s service to the world.

We all have a ministry
EfM builds communities of mutual support and mutual discernment where participants study scripture, history, and theology and read and reflect on how God is calling them to work in the world. Invite Welcome Connect is a transformational ministry that equips and empowers clergy and lay leaders to enrich their practices of evangelism, hospitality, and connectedness. These offerings from the Beecken Center provide learning opportunities to Episcopalians and others whose fervent wish is to live lives of meaning.

Digging Deeper
The Advanced Degrees Program gives Episcopal and other clergy deeply embedded in ministry the opportunity to dig deeper in their understanding of their faith and gain new energy in their ministries.

Kimi deMent, who earned an M.A. in Theology in 2013, leads a faith and justice summit, helping faith leaders understand how to help when parishioners have legal difficulty. The summit is a program of the Beecken Center, in partnership with Sewanee’s Office of Civic Engagement, and the Tennessee Administrative Office of the Courts, where deMent coordinates a statewide Faith and Justice Alliance.

VISIT EPISCOPALRESOURCE.Sewanee.EDU
What We Do

Pre-college

Summa
45-60 participants | $1,000 tuition | $12,000 given in financial aid

SEI Environmental Field Studies Experience
22-25 participants | $1,850 tuition | $8,000 given in financial aid

Young Writers’ Conference
75 participants | $2,400 tuition | $10,000 given in financial aid

College
1,698 students (374 Episcopalians) | $58,000 comprehensive fee | $32 million given in financial aid ($6.2 million to Episcopalians from owning dioceses)

School of Theology

Seminary
79 residential students | $18,258 tuition and fees | $1.6 million given in Financial aid

Advanced Degree Programs
48 participants in 2019 (73 active students) | $94,000 given in financial aid

Sewanee Ministry Collaborative
32 participants per year build thriving ministries | minimal cost to participants | fees paid by a grant

Becken Center
5,500 current participants | average of 11 EfM groups per diocese

Spotlight on Service

The Rev. Kellan Day, T’19, became assistant rector at Church of the Incarnation, in Highlands, North Carolina, in June of 2019. Prior to seminary, she worked as the young adult missioner for the Diocese of Western Michigan. At Calvin College in Western Michigan, she studied religion and gender studies and had a healthy dose of art history. So when she came to Sewanee to earn her M.Div. she became interested in The Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation. Now, with her classmate, Hannah Pommersheim, Day has prepared a curriculum to help clergy learn how to foster productive conversations about race and problematic imagery related to race in the worship space. Her spouse, Kai Koopman, works at the Bascom: A Center for the Visual Arts in Highlands, North Carolina. They love to spend time outdoors whenever possible: hiking, climbing, gardening, and eating dinners on the porch.

For More Information, Contact:

Bess Turner
University Relations
The University of the South
Office: 931.598.1460
bessturner@sewanee.edu